A Big Year
For Nationally
Advertised Goods

Mr. Merchant, this message is written after a careful and long study of the trade conditions all over the country.

This is going to be a big year for standard goods of recognized quality because the manufacturers are going to make more determined efforts to push them than ever before.

Newspaper advertising in the United States is going to be largely used. And it is going to be pushed with the greatest vigor, and bring the best results in the places where the local merchants are ready to co-operate.

The manufacturers are willing to spend money to make a market at your doorstep, but they want you to let the people know that the goods can be had in your store.

They will send the trade your way if you are willing to care for it when it comes.

When such a condition exists, the live merchant should need no urging to do his share.

Let us suggest that you get in touch with the manufacturers whose lines you carry, and let them know that you are prepared to do in the way of co-operative work.

It will mean better business for both of you.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, will be glad to answer any questions about co-operative work with dealers in newspaper advertising campaigns.

INSTANTLY KILLED AT PAPER MILL

Milton D. Anderson Drawn Into Machinery at American Strawboard Co. Plant at Thamesville—Young Man Was at Work When He Probably Fell and His Clothing Caught in Cog Wheel.

At the local plant of the American Strawboard company, in Thamesville, Milton D. Anderson, 19 years of age, was instantly killed Friday morning shortly before 9 o'clock when his clothing was evidently caught in a cogwheel and he was drawn into the machinery and killed.

Anderson's body was drawn into space of 9 1/2 inches between the cogwheel and the wooden pillar. His body was caught in the wheel so firmly that it was impossible to pull him out. The body was found by the assistant of Robert Goldstein and Harry Hilderbrand cut the belt on the pulley, which was fastened to a large pulley, so that the lifeless body could be removed. The body was frightfully crushed about the chest and lacerated on the lower part of the neck, and lay across the shaft. Medical assistance was telephoned for, and Dr. J. J. Donohue responded. Medical Examiner Kimball and Coroner Brown were called and examined the body in the office, to which it had been taken, and the latter gave Undertaker Gager permission to remove the body to his home.

Anderson was trying to place some nuts on one of the big pumps which lets water into one of the vats. The pump machine was shut down while he was making the repairs. He was obliged to walk over an elevated plank over the shafting from one tank to another in order to get to the pump.

The opinion of Coroner Brown is that this plank was greasy and he slipped, probably falling against the cog wheel. Supt. F. W. Briggs says that Anderson was one of the most intelligent men of the factory and that the young man took a great interest in his work and in his money.

The father of Anderson, Allen Anderson, arrived in town about 1:45 o'clock Friday afternoon to make arrangements for his burial. His burial most likely will take place in Packer.

The deceased was born in Packer, Conn. 19 years ago. He was educated in Moosup and later went to Springfield to learn the machinist trade. Two years ago he came to Norwich to work for the Sterling Machine company. He entered the employ of the American Strawboard company about a year ago to learn to be a millwright. He leaves a father and mother, Allen Anderson and Sarah A. (Tarbox) Anderson; four sisters, Mrs. W. Asplund of New London, Mrs. Fred Harrington and Mrs. Walter Harrington of Westerly and Miss Bertha Anderson of Moosup, and one brother, Allen Anderson of Springfield. He was one of twins, the other, Miss Mildred, died about three years ago.

The accident is the first fatal one which has occurred in this congressional district since the new workmen's compensation law has been in effect. Dr. J. J. Donohue, who was first called when the man was found, is the compensation commissioner for this district.

BANKERS ASK AMENDMENT TO INCOME TAX LAW
Gives Rise to Many Complications and Much Expense.

A petition asking for an amendment to the federal income tax law has been circulated among the banks of Hartford and has been signed by thirteen of the fifteen members of the Hartford clearing house association. The petition refers particularly to that section concerning information at the source and says: "The present method of collection at the source adds many unnecessary complications to bondholders and other investors; it has added enormously to the expense of banks, bankers and trust companies and the labor in investigating and making returns will yearly cost the government vast sums of money, all of which can be avoided under a plan of information at the source, all of these complications and unnecessary expenses aggregating into hundreds of thousands of dollars annually will be eliminated and the government will be in possession of more information for the verification of the returns of individuals and corporations than under the law as it now stands."

"We further petition that in the event that the source is not specifically named as above that an annual appropriation be made by congress for the reimbursement of banks, bankers and trust companies for the expenses incurred in which they are subject in acting as agents for the government in the collection of the income tax."

The petition is signed with the American Bankers' association.

BACK FROM TRIP TO CANAL ZONE

Judge Brown With His Brother and Son Visited Panama.

Judge Lucius Brown, with his brother, Charles H. Brown, and his son, Daniel L. Brown, returned from a trip to the Panama canal, which was a delightful experience for all of the party. For Judge Brown and his family it was their first visit to the isthmus, but for his brother it was the third time he has seen the big canal work.

During the time, six each way, were occupied in travel between New York and Colon by steamer, without stops anywhere, and they had five days on the trip Friday night.

Speaking of the trip Friday night, Judge Brown referred particularly to the wonderful work in sanitation done during the American occupation of the canal zone, and said there was not a mosquito or a fly to be seen.

The party traveled across the isthmus by the railroad, which was built by the Americans, and they had opportunity to stop off at points where they desired. The temperature in the daytime was about 80 at night they slept under blankets.

The work now in progress on the canal is in the Culebra cut, which was the last big project of the canal, and there is also a big undertaking at Balboa, where a drydock 1,000 feet long is to be built.

The work on the Panama canal is now in charge of the Y. M. C. A. building at this point.

FOR ARMOR PLANT
AT THE NAVY YARD.

Mahan Urges Thames River As The Most Desirable Location.

(Special to The Bulletin.)
Washington, Feb. 6.—The house committee on naval affairs has passed a resolution that some steps should be taken towards the erection of an armor plant at some point along the Atlantic coast, in connection with the construction of a government owned plant, the committee has attached an amendment to the naval appropriation bill providing for the appointment of an armor plant commission.

The amendment has been carefully drawn, and provides that a commission shall be appointed by the secretary of the navy with instructions to select the best available site for the proposed plant. This commission will probably be composed of naval officers and civilian iron and steel experts. A report will be made to the secretary of the navy by the commission.

It is understood that the amendment will provide for the erection of a plant with a capacity of from 10,000 to 20,000 tons of armor plate. The commission will be required to report on the probable cost of the erection of the plant at various locations, the transportation facilities, the labor market, and the available material. It will also be asked to go into probable cost of producing plate at a government factory.

The majority of the members of the committee are of the opinion that in reporting out the amendment they should go as far towards authorizing the construction of a plant as it is possible to, and at the same time protect the government against waste of funds in carrying out the project. It is admitted that there is a year's work for a very strong commission in doing the preliminary work for the passage of the necessary legislation for the plant.

The commission will be expected to visit all the suggested locations for the plant. It will not only make an investigation on very optimistic grounds, but will conduct hearings at which representatives of local interests will be asked to appear.

Representative Mahan was before the naval affairs committee yesterday when his bill for the appointment of this commission was under discussion. Mr. Mahan is very optimistic concerning the location of the proposed plant at New London. He is of the opinion that after a thorough examination by a commission, the advantages offered by no other point along the coast. In the first place the site is already owned by the government, and must be used for naval purposes. There is plenty of deep water and the harbor is always free from ice, and the transportation facilities are equalled by no other point along the Atlantic coast. Lying midway between the cities of New York and Boston, New London is in the very center of the greatest labor market in the world, and it is protected by the most powerful fortifications along the coast.

WOMAN SHOT DOWN
BY VEILED VISITOR.

Husband of Victim and a Woman Under Arrest.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 6.—As Mrs. Harriet Manning, 28, struck a match to light in her parlor to light the room for a veiled woman who had announced herself to Mrs. Manning's mother as "a friend from Philadelphia," she was shot down by the visitor, who, when the woman had collapsed against a couch, finished her deadly work by a shot in the head, and then fled, firing twice at the dead woman's mother and sister, who were rushing toward the parlor. The mysterious woman then disappeared, and at a late hour the police had not been able to get a clue as to her identity.

The woman asked at the door whether Mrs. Manning was at home and was invited into the parlor by Mrs. Harriet Manning, mother of the dead woman, who then called her daughter. As the visitor tried to light the lamp she was shot down.

Mrs. Cobb and her daughter favor the theory that Mrs. Manning's death may have been the result of jealousy, believing that the veiled woman was a friend of a man whom Mrs. Manning knew.

Charles I. Manning, 30 years old, husband of the murdered woman, was arrested late tonight at Verona, where he is a printer, and his wife and two children have not lived together for two years. He was brought here by Newark detectives, who are anxious to question him.

This police later admitted that
